Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service! I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. I am concerned that this proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is unfair!

I use my wireless phone for safety, security and convenience. I don't want to lose these benefits so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

If the FCC would change some of its priorities, such as penalizing the television inappropriate programming, as well as keeping radio programming under control by penalizing for inappropriate programming, and not worry about adding taxes to the common man every chance it has, it would still be able to function within its monetary means. WE all have to learn to tighten our belt. We cannot just raise fees to increase our income when we are overspending. Tighten your own belts and get rid of indescnt programming that is on the air also at the expense of taxpayers' dollars, and you won't need to increase our fees.

Keep the USF Fair!

Sincere,

Camille moxon

Sincerely,

camille moxon
